WHAT a vast change has come over the system of medical treatment in the last few years! A short time ago and depletion seemed to be the only method-bleeding, blistering, cupping, purging, etc .but now, how different. The system of depletion has almost disappeared, and we find tonics and strengtheners taking its place. Build up, instead of pull down still further, the dilapidated constitution. Of all the array of restoratives none surpasses Parker's Compound Fluid Extract Buchu in its invigorating properties. I: will restore the shattered constitution, invigorate the mind and impart a zest to life which the poor invalid had thought departed forever. Sold by all druggists, the city day before yesterday. No arrests were made and not a single case was up before the police court yesterday. -The weather yesterday moderated materially from the intense cold of the several previous days; the sun shone in a clear sky and its rays, wherever they reached the snow and ice, caused a very considerable thaw. -The horse disease has about run its course in this city. The horses affected having nearly all recovered. -Reports from different sections of the country prove the present to be one of the coldest winters for many years past. In many places the mercury has stood twenty degrees below zero, and in some forty degrees below. In Cairo, the weather has seen continuously colder for the last week than was ever known before, even to the "oldest inhabitant," we believe. The Ice which formed in the river on the night of the 21st has not yet commenced to thaw.

-That was an unkind blow dealt by the gentle Davis of the 'Sun,' when he said: "Wagonner of the Pulaski 'Patriot,' is running the concern-" meaning by "concern," the editorial convention. Why can't Davis, when he trys, be polite? Haven't we been diligent in our attempts to correct the shortcomings of deportment and conduct acquired by him while a resident of Carbondale? And haven't we repeatedly told him that it is dis-Rob't. E. Devore, no report required by courteous to insult the guest within his own doors? But, we have patience. We do not despair. -The 'Valley Clarion,' the goodlooking ditor of which lively sheet was in the ity yesterday, stands manfully by the foldvantage Cairo has over that village as for what he has. Such finformation may be found on each hand. Cairo has advantage of every kind possessed by no city in the West, and does not regard a little outof-the-way village like Chester as a rival in any sense. Chester may have been a good sort of a town long ago, but it lacks vim now. It is "a city on a hill," and a city of that kind is only good for ornsment to decorate a landscape. In summer the Mississippi is too low to allow boats to land at the bluff of Chester, and in winter the ice blockade locks the river from the use of the city. In fact, the only for the largest boats. way to get into Chester, during the greater part of the year, would be to railroad it to the Missouri shore opposite the town and then ferry it over in light-draught skiffs. Such an arrangement would never do for an iron manufacturing centre. Chester

RIVER NEWS.

ARRIVED. Illinois, Columbus

Steamer Fanny Lewis, Vicksburg " Illinois, Columbus CONDITION OF THE RIVERS.

Here the Ohio is swelling slowly. The rise from the Cumberland bas about had its run, and that stream falling again. Below here the river is in a good condition, with the exception of a little ice at Randolph. The Mississippl is frozen solid for some miles above here, and people have availed themselves of the opportunity of walking over and back, just to have it said that they walked "across the Mississippi river at Cairo," which is certainly an unusual occurrence, and the cause of its being frozen over now, may be attributed to the big rise in the lower Ohio river, which has backed up the Mississippi for several miles, and has formed slack water. Greenfield's ferry has been laid up, and freight is taken over on sleds. At Thompson's saw mill the ice is reported mountain high, and looks like a hugh ice-

CAIRO. MARKET REPORT.

Thursday Evening, Dec. 26th, 1872. The extreme cold of the last few days coupled with the holidays, has tended to restrict transactions in grain bay and wing forcunes of the decaying village of flour. The demand continues lively, and Chester, and wishes to be informed of any since we are insured a clear river south we may look for heavy business during an iron manufacturing centre. He asks the next few weeks. The Mississippi is clear of ice below but is frozen solid from Cairo to St. Louis. Several large steamers are at the landing to-day, loading for Memphis and New Orleans.

Grain is very plenty but not in excess of the demand.

Dealers find some difficulty in filling orders for the interior of the south for want of rail connection. The Mobile and Ohio railroad is blocked up with freight and has been for several days.

The river is still rising fast, and there is plenty of water hence to New Orleans Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices otherwise stated, and that in filling small orders higher prices must be paid. FLOUR-Very quiet. Owing to the cold weather and the holidays, very little business has been done this week. Prices are unchanged and firm. Sales consist of 150 tbls various grades 4 60 to 8 00; 1 car various grades 7 50 to 9 00; 1 car XXX 6 50 and 100 bbls various grades 6 50 to 9 50. HAY-The market is good but the ex-
